Independent auditor's report

To the Board of Trustees of SickKids Centre for Community Mental Health

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of SickKids Centre for Community Mental Health [the "Centre"], which comprise the statement of financial position as at March 31, 2019, and the statement of revenue and expenses, statement of changes in net assets, and statement of cash flows for the year then ended, and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Centre as at March 31, 2019 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian public sector accounting standards.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements section of our report. We are independent of the Centre in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in Canada, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Other matter

The financial statements of the Centre for the year ended March 31, 2018 were audited by another auditor who expressed an unmodified opinion on those statements on June 20, 2018.

Responsibilities of management and those charged with governance for the financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with Canadian public sector accounting standards, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Centre's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Centre or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the Centre's financial reporting process.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Centre's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Centre's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Centre to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure, and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

Notes to financial statements

March 31, 2019

1. Description of operations

SickKids Centre for Community Mental Health [the "Centre"] is a mental health centre serving infants, children, youth and families. Prevention, early intervention, treatment research and education are major activities of the Centre.

In affiliation with the University of Toronto and other centres of higher education, training is provided to students in all major mental health disciplines.

The Hospital for Sick Children [the "Hospital"] exercises control over the Centre through a governance and operational structure managed by the Hospital. This integration was outlined in a memorandum of understanding between the two entities dated November 8, 2016 and effective February 1, 2017.

The Centre is registered with Canada Revenue Agency as a charitable organization and is therefore not subject to income taxes.

2. Significant accounting policies

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the CPA Canada Public Sector ["PS"] Accounting Handbook, which sets out generally accepted accounting principles for government not-for-profit organizations in Canada. The Centre has chosen to use the standards for not-for-profit organizations that include Section PS 4200 to PS 4270. The significant accounting policies are summarized below.

Use of estimates

The preparation of the Centre's financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Accounts requiring significant estimates and assumptions are certain accrued liabilities, the accrued pension asset and amortization, which is based on the estimated useful lives of capital assets. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

Revenue recognition

The Centre follows the deferral method of accounting for contributions, which include grants. Unrestricted contributions are recorded as revenue when received or receivable if the amount to be received can be reasonably be estimated and collection is reasonably assured. Externally restricted contributions are initially deferred when recorded in the accounts and recognized as revenue in the year in which the related expenses are recognized. Contributions externally restricted for capital assets are recorded as deferred capital contributions and are amortized to operations on the same basis as the related asset is amortized.

Notes to financial statements

March 31, 2019

Capital assets

Capital asset purchases are recorded at cost and are amortized over their estimated useful lives on the straightline basis. The Centre uses the following annual amortization rates:

Buildings and building service equipment	21⁄2% and 5%
Other equipment and systems	5% to 20%

Financial instruments

The Centre's financial instruments, including cash, accounts receivable, accounts payable and accrued liabilities, are initially recorded at their fair value and are subsequently measured at cost, net of any provisions for impairment.

Unless otherwise noted, the Centre is not subject to any significant market, liquidity or credit risks.

Accrued pension assets

The Centre accrues for its obligations under employee benefit plans and the related costs, net of plan assets. The Centre has adopted the following policies:

- The cost of pension benefits earned by employees is actuarially determined using the projected unit credit benefit method prorated on services and management's best estimate assumptions. Under this method, members' projected pensions at retirement age are apportioned into units of pension to be funded over their years of credited service.
- For the purpose of calculating the expected return on plan assets, those assets are valued at market related values whereby all investment gains and losses are recognized over five years.
- Actuarial gains and losses are amortized on a straight-line basis over the expected average remaining service of the active employees, which is 7.8 years [2018 – 8.8 years].
- An actuarial valuation for accounting purposes is used to determine the Centre's accrued pension assets.

3. Financial instruments and risk management

The financial instruments held by the Centre are exposed to a variety of financial risks. The Centre seeks to minimize the potential adverse effects of these risks by regularly monitoring the position of its financial instruments.

Credit risk

Credit risk is the risk that one party to a financial instrument will fail to discharge an obligation and cause the other party to incur a financial loss. The Centre provides credit to its customers in the normal course of its operations, and hence it carries out credit checks on its customers as required.

5. Accrued pension assets

The Centre maintains a registered defined benefit pension plan, which includes a defined contribution component, covering substantially all of its employees. The plan provides pensions based on length of service and final average earnings. The last actuarial valuation on the defined benefit plan for funding purposes was as at December 31, 2016, and the valuation indicated that the plan had a surplus of $521,600 on a going-concern basis and a deficit of $2,473,000 on a solvency basis.
